Professional Development Seminars

There are 8 excellent seminars lined up for Saturday, June 21. We have just added the 8th seminar and we're sure it will be interesting to many of you. Presented by David A. Townsend (Professor, Faculty of Law, University of New Brunswick) and Greg Sprague (Privacy, Security and Trust Research Team, National Research Council of Canada, Institute for Information Technology), the seminar is titled Campus Safety and Security in a Cyber World.

If you have registered for the conference but not for the PDS, you can log back in to your registration record anytime before June 1 to make the update. Some of the seminars are filling up quite quickly, so register today to ensure that you get in to the seminar you are interested in. Full descriptions are available HERE.

Bringing guests?

Fredericton Tourism will be set-up in our Registration area on June 21 and 22 to help guests decide what they should see and do while their favorite ResNetter is in sessions. We will also encourage guests to meet in the morning after breakfast (sort of a "Guest BOF") if they are interested in exploring together. Our student staff and your hosts will also be armed with lots of recommendations and information for folks looking to experience Fredericton.

Canadianisms

To help prepare for your visit to Canada, we thought we'd provide some insight into speaking "Canadian" ☺ For this edition, we'll tell you about some of the Canadian snacks we'll be providing in the snack room (available 24/7 in the residence accommodations).

Smarties: These are Canada's version of M&Ms (we have M&Ms too), but they are easily a favorite snack among us! A huge marketing campaign from the late '80s still has us children of the '70s and '80s singing "When you eat your smarties, do you eat the red ones last?"

Mack: This is a solid bar of toffee made in Canada by Nestlé. A favorite especially on the East Coast.

Maple Leaf Cookies: We put maple in everything here in Canada. One of the best ways is to make a cookie that is almost like an Oreo except the cookie and the filling are maple-flavored and it's in the shape of a maple leaf. So, I guess not like an Oreo at all.

Ketchup chips: The jury is out on whether or not these are available in the U.S., but one thing is for sure: we love ketchup-flavoured chips here in Canada.

Ganong Chocolate: Since 1873 the Ganong family and friends have put their heart and soul into the chocolate confectioner's art. An art never lost. For the special skills in making quality confectionery have been passed down from father to son throughout the generations in the small town of St. Stephen, New Brunswick. Current CEO, David Ganong, along with many others in the Ganong family are graduates of UNB.
